Some say you can do it in seven days, others promise success in 24 hours, or you may prefer to take your time and do it in 5 weeks. What are we talking about? Believe it or not, these periods of time refer to language-learning courses that/which promise excellent results in less time than it takes to say Bonjour! However, the advertisements of these companies are not necessarily the best guide, and if you don't know what to look for in a good course, you could be left with little more than a large bill. A complaint was recently made to a consumer rights group against WhizzLearn Systems, a language school chain, and the company has been forced to remove its claim that its technique is ten times better than any other/competing method. The Managing Director of WhizzLearn Systems said: "Although/while we still believe our claim is true, we are willing to change our advert. But the fact remains, if you spend 3 hours per day for 5 weeks on our language course, you will soon be speaking the language. What we should have done was to make it/this clearer in the advert."

G. Read the article and circle the best answer (A, B, C, or D), based on the text. (10 points)

High-heel freak

“My mother always said that in life you should buy good shoes and a good bed – because if you weren’t in one you’d be in the other,” laughs Gloria Hunniford.

Wise words – and they could explain Gloria’s passion for shoes as well as her fondness for the exclusive Pinet shoe shop in London’s Bond Street.

With its marble steps and antique furniture the shop oozes with luxury and glamour. “I love the atmosphere, the service and knowing that whatever I buy there will be the best. I’ll look good and feel good – and that’s coming from someone who’s a high-heel freak.”

At her home in the countryside, cupboards have been fitted with row upon row of shoe racks to house the 150 pairs that Gloria has collected.

When her daughter (“now she’s a real shopaholic!”) moved out recently to get married, Gloria took over her bedroom, turning it into a room “for the overspill. I simply can’t throw them away. I’ve got every colour and type imaginable, although most are high heels. I sometimes look at some of the outrageously high ones and wonder how on earth I ever managed to walk on them.”

For some time after Gloria moved to London from Northern Ireland she’d return to shop in Belfast. “London was still a maze, and it took me a while to find my way around.”

Since discovering Pinet, she heads for the shop whenever she needs shoes to match an outfit. “I’ll take in a piece of fabric and Trevor Goodlad, the deputy manager, who has been helping me choose shoes for years, sees it as a great challenge to match it up.”

Avoiding the satin rhinestone numbers at £79, the gold hand-painted pumps or even the handmade silk evening shoes selling between £200 and £300 – “I would never spend that much money. My average is just over £100, and around £40 for sale shoes” – she usually heads for the Weitzmann collection.

“They’re very stylish and flattering, especially to someone like me who has absolutely horrible feet,” she says, shaking off her shoes to reveal nice pointed toes.

1. What type of shoes did Gloria’s mother recommend?

- A High-quality shoes. C Shoes from a particular shop.
 B Shoes which look expensive. D Shoes which made her look good.

2. What does Gloria keep in her daughter’s bedroom?

- A Her daughter’s shoes. C The shoes she has no space for.
 B Only high-heeled shoes. D Shoes which are worn out.

3. Why did Gloria go back to Belfast to shop?

- A She thought the shops were better. C She could get higher heels in Belfast.
 B She needed to match shoes to fabrics. D She found London large and confusing.

4. How does Trevor Goodlad help Gloria?

- A By finding shoes with pointed toes and high heels. C By finding shoes to match her clothes.
 B By making shoes specifically to match her clothes. D By advising her on clothes to match her shoes.

5. Why does Gloria like Weitzmann shoes?

- A They’re very comfortable. C She can buy them in a sale.
 B They make her feet look good. D They are made by hand.
